Crop Prospects for 1867. From the New York World.

A paper on "Engine Drivers and their Ways," in Cassell's Magazine, contains the following ancedotes:

"I have alived to a driver's coolness and resolution in an accident, but no chronicle ever has or ever will be written which will tell one tithe of the accidents which the courage and presence of mind of those men has avered. A railway run over a rivor—indeed, it might be called an arm of the sea; as it was the lalet to an important harbor, provision was obliged to be made for the shipping, and so the piece of line which crossed the water, at a height of seventy-five feet, was, in fact, a bridge, which swung round when large vessels had to peas. I need hardly say that such a point was carefully guarded. At each end, at a fitting distance, a mun was placed specially to indicate whether the bridge was open or shull to indicate whether the bridge was open or shull to indicate whether the bridge was open or shull right signal; but to his horror, on coning in rill sight of the bridge, he found it was wide open, and a gulf of fatal depth yawning before time! I seounded his brake. Whistle, that deeptoned scream which signals the guaril, and he on the stream held on, as before described, to the brake and regulator. The speed of the train was, of course, checked; but so short was the interval, so great had been the impetus, that it seemed almost impossible to prevent the wholt train from going over into the chasm. Had thurnils been in the least degree slippery, any of the brakes ont of order, or the driver less determined, there would then have occurred the most feurful railway accident ever known in England; but by dint of quick decision and cool courage the danger was averted; the train was brought to a standstill when the buffers of the engine absolutely and literally overhung the chasm. They yards more, and a different result might have hadde to enformed.

"Some of my readers may remember an includent in railway accident ever known in England; but by dint of quick decision and cool courage in a couple of minutes the Crop Prospects for 1887.

From the New York World.

To the commercial as well as to the general public, the prospects of a very porceptible and even unusually large mercase in the wheat crop and general ceresi products during the couling season, with a probable diminution in prices proportioned to the increased supply, will come with sincers gratification. The foundation for the statement is the reasonable certainty of an agricultural yield in the South commensurate with the capabilities of her fertite fields, and as a result of the labor that has been expended upon them. The pressing necessities of the Southern people have compelled the abandomment, for the present at least, of the cultivation of the old staple productions of their section, such as cotion, tobacco and rice, in place of which certain have been planted. This will toud to divert to the Eastern States the ordinary flow of Western breadstuffs southwards, and by so much increase the supply in this section. The anomaly that has characterized our market during 1805—of a dependence of flour upon a section not less remote than Californha—will no longer obtain; nor will the even greater marvel again occur, of sending to Liverpool for wheat for reshipment to New York to supply Northen consumption. The gain in cercals, more particularly in wheat, will not be an inmudalite as might be inferred from a supericlail glance, since, owing to the immusuhes wardness of the present senson, the prospects of spring wheat are not encouraging for either an early or a liberal yield. Yet the same causes that retard that crop unite to promise a most abundant return from the wheat sown in the white, and thickes a drought or some other unforscent calamity occurs, the empty of summer wheat will be unusually abundant.

A careful examination of the causes of the present pancky prices in flour shows that, contrary to the general impression, it is not to the fact that the United States have been actually experimenting a partial funds as respects the supply of wheat, and the fact

The Freedmen and Conservatives.

The Tennessee "Conservatives" are bidding high for the negro vote, even higher than the Radicals, offering him the right to hold office, and the same rights and privileges under the law enjoyed by the white man. Naday made an excellent bit when he represented Deacon Fogram as higging a negro and calling him brother, in order to gain his favor politically. The hove of power and greed of office is strong as ever in the Southern mind, stronger if possible than hatred to the negro. How advances from this source are received by the black is shown in a speech made by a colored orator at a meeting at Musicial hast shatrady. He said:

"I don't blame the Conservatives for wanding our votes; we would, if we were in their fix.—They claim to be our heat friends. Well, I recolled when they sold my wife away from me, and my children, too. Oh! they say, you must forget all that. Well, we can lorgive it, but we can never torget it as long as we have memories. I can respect a man who says he is a rebel, but not one who wants the Constitution as it was. Well, we don't. If he does, he is welcome to our old place in the custom-patch.

"Keep a sharp look out for the Conservatives. They want to fool you, and are as eralty as the Consumites were with Joshua. Some of those fallows gut dishirationed, just as the Conservatives are now, and so they put on oil shows, and samed appared, and montely bread in their knumbers, and simple direct the the camp of Joshua all dusty and travel-worn. They pretended to have a treaty of peace and annity. They fooled old Joshua to the top of their heat. The Canamites are not all dead, and some of them live in Davidson county."

once answered, be on the speedy road to realization.

It is a sure indication of the approaching adjustment of prices to the actual values of the articles to which they are affixed, that speculation, particularly for a rise, is less frequent than it has been for a long time past. In this connection, the recent fail in the price of initier is very significant; and, though one swallow does not make a summer, it is evident from the signs of the same that the fictions walnes placed upon many of the necessaries of life are not to hold much longer. Money is becoming scarcer every day; and with the scarcity of work, as evincual by the thousands of persons who are seeking comployment, and the inability of employers to meet the demand for increased wages, must come a depression in the high prices that have obtained for the past four years. Happily, this depression in the case of flour, as we have shown, will result not alone from this cause, but from an actual increase in the supply of wheat.

The Indians of New York.

The Spreades demand denies the truth of the popular impression that the Indians of New York are, as a nee, incapable of civilization. It is said that for twenty Years past they have increased the number of their schools and churches, and have also increased in wentth and population. It gives the following statistics on the subject:

There are now living upon reservations in the State of New York the remnants of eight or nine ribbes of Indians agreeming a monalding in Fribes of Indians, aggregating a population in 1865 of 4,139. In 1855 they numbered 3,034, and 3,753 in 1845.

county, Long Island, and has been occupied by that tribe from time immemorial. They hold it at present under a lease for a thousand years from the 16th of August, 1703, at an amuni rent of an ear of core, under condition that none of the trust he fenced or inclosed between the last of Queen and the 1st of April in each year.—
The population is 117.

The St. Regis Reservation, 14,000 acres, occupied by descendants of the Mohawks, lies in the town of Bombay, Proudin county. The population is 426, though portions of the triba residing elsewhere awell their number to 1,400.

The Tuscarora Reservation, in Lewiston, Niagara county, contains 6,349 acres of good land. Them Indians enligrated from North Carolina in 1713. They numbered 370, and maintain a library and an association for mutual improvement.

The Cantaragus Keservation lies in the town of Perryaburg, Cattaragus county, collina, Ericcumty, and Hanover, Chantanqua county, and Incides 10,238 acres. The Indians number 1,347, and are more than usually sullghtened and thrifty. The Tonawania Reservation, in the towns of Pembroke and Aletana, Genesce county, Newstead, Eric county, and Royalton, Niagara county, embraces over 2,000 scress of improved land, and has a population of 509 persons. They are mostly farmers.

The Oneitha Indiana reside on farms owned by families in Lenox, Madison county, and Vernon, Include county, cultivating between 200 and 300 ocres, and maintaining a population of 185.

The Cayingas have no reservation left, and those who have not emigrated beyond the Missouri, live chiefly in Catteraugus—134 in all.

The Onnodaya Reservation, Iring in the towns of Engette and Oanndaya, contiguous to Syracuae, contained a population of 302 in 1895, and 172 living upon other reservations make the number of the tribe 374.

EMBEZZLEMENT — ROBBERY — MURIPER.

New York, April 25.

At a special meeting of the Board of Aidermon last evening a preamble was adopted reciting that the Legislature had passed a bill transferring the duty of Issuing licenses and other powers in relation to theatres, Junk shops, intelligence of lices, cars and car drivers, &c., from the Mayor and City Connett to the Board of Tolice Commissioners for a partisan purpose, when such dutes had heretofore been faithfully performed by the municipal nutbortites, and a recolution accompanying the preamble was adopted repealing all ordinances relating to such theatres, junk shops, &c., for the purpose of defeating the object of the bill refutred to.

In the Board of Connellmen this preamble and resolution was also adopted.

The Berald's Vera Cruz correspondence says: Marquez, who escaped from Queratora, arrived from Mexico City at Paebla with four thousand men after its capture by the Liberals. A fight ensued in which the Imperialists were defeated. The situation of the Imperialists at Quenatora was horrible. They hold only two streets of the place. Maximilian was still there. Porsons coming out of the city to get food were shot down.

A peritton from the people of Luxemburg has been presented to the King of allottand, expressing their anions desire to retain their automatic under the House of Orange.

The downal des Debates has an article on the Lixemburg question, saying it would be much better that Luxemburg remain Luxemburg if it cannot become Franch or Prassian without a great war, of which no one can foresee all the consenueue.

cannot become French or Prussian without a great war, of which no one can foresee all the consequence.

The Gazette de France says the public is permanded that there will be war. It is very sorry that the questim of Luxemburg was raised, but France cumut recule now.

The Opinione Nationale says France is weighed down by profound and grievious excitement.

The Prussian Government has hangfully remained to evacuate Luxemburg. This is rank ingreatined. Her insolvence is unbearable.

The French press is nearly manimous in the opinion that whether samexation is consumated or not Prussia must be required to evacuate.—The Government alone is silent.

The Iducte says: Far from applanding the silence of the nation at the present moment, we should you airrued at it; far from encouraging its indifference, we should make appeals to the patricitism; far from concealing dauger, we should make it public; far from leolating the country by the affence of the Gazette and the present moment with the patricitism should work the urgency of liberty of the press and public meetings. Journals which are dispensed from shamp regelation aught to awaken the santiment of patriotism in every coltage and every workshop. Public meetings all over the country should make known to M. de Blismarck that if there is a German pairolatin which is succeptible, there is a German pairolatin which is succeptible, there is a French patriotism which is uncelly; that, in word, the German people, excited, instead, and made to serve Prussian ambition, will find themselves apposed not only by a French people determined to defend their independence and tear in pieces the treatics of 1815.

Another powerful article by Gloredin, in La.

encouraged by our patience hast year, will not yield either on the question of Magince or Lux-emburg. It is war, became France will not suffer herself to be immiliated. The present dovernment had been reproached with having given less liberty than its predecessors to France. The Government had been reproached with having given hess liberty than its predecessors to France. The Government has always much one pretension—the pretension of having restored France to its rank in Europe, to having carried high the flag of France, before hundliated. War, is inevitable, unless at least Bismarck exhibits a moderation to which he is not accustomed.

The Liberte containing this article had an immense sale and perusal, and caused a profound sensation. The sale of the paper has since been prohibited on the street. Girardiu had previous to the publication of this article received an of field denamit for the payment of five thousand france, which he puid.

The Colone Gazette arress compromise rather than war by declaring Luxemburg an independent State or a siding duchy to Bulgium.

The City Printing.

The Common Council appear to be exce site bothered on the subject of the city printing It has been "the vexed question" of every ses sion since the new Board were organized, and ag honorable body as screasly as the Theory of Tittlebats was wont to do the Pick wick Glub I set year the Board paid the Hitt ALD office $300 for printing the city midmane. and the city made money by the contract. This year we officied to do the work for $100, but the Hon Castar, City Congressmen from the First Ward, was suddenly impressed with the impormed of economy, and after dilligent and perso sering lequity, learned that there was methe or (9) in Intusville where he could get it done for less. Custor further ascertantal that the other newst open was Democratic, and he be ing an ident Republic in and representing a Republican Ward of course considered it his duty to exert his official influence and net his own party paper. Business Custon is a friend of the working min, and he couldn't see why the working man should not work for a good deal less than he could ifford not the any newspaper should not print city ordinances as a less price than it actually cost for the type setting

Bondes, Custur felt that he was expected to presu work for the interests of the (it) and it he shall report progress could do anything to damage in institution like the Monsing Henry, which employs twenty flye men and expends $25,000 every year in Ti tustille, for the benefit of its merchants and other business men why of course it was Cu tir's duty to do it

Besides, there was the question of economy of money to a city corporation—capecially when

Buildes, Custer possibly winted to grin in pri the ix or two, and it it wer in the ship cof a city ordinance it would be ishread way to hood wink It is a pity that Custir can't hood wink the people concerning the Franklin street bridge, that buckwheat" structure erected at the city expense for the benefit of a private mill com-

Rut the printing question was practically saturd when the matter was referred to the Printing Committee, who were am owered to set as they thought best or the interest of the city. The Committee, Mossrs Bevanund McCrum, both sen sible men and public spirited citizens, promptly awarded the printing to the Herrar p office and city, and Mr. Bevan s signature and that of our own firm were alone appended. The Council met in the evening, and Mr Bovan submitted his re | treat This ought to have settled the matter, it would have done in any body where parlia mentary forms are recognized. But Jup springs the irrepressible Congressman from the birst Ward, and pulls out another proposal from the Dimocratic organ, offering to do the work for $75 The Hon Custar denounced the contract stood-Custar stood-like the chaquent Pack wick, (we presume) with one hand gracifully concealed builted his cost tries, and the other waving his $77 proposal in the nit glowing declamation-but he said nothing thout

PERBURDA MARKETS

Orrida of the Morning Henris, & Tirreville, April 15, 1867 The Petroleum market is slightly active with a dulf feeling and without change from preclus prices. The duti feeling which pervaded the market to-day was meetly caused by the continued adverse reports from the home and fereign markets. There is still some difference between the views of buyers and producers—There was a fair amount of inquiry to-day. The New York, Pittsburgh and Cleveland buyers were in the market the Bull Ruu an offer was made of $4.00 for 4 gr off at the wells.
